“ I've often wondered what John's thoughts were when of our family of 5 moved in next door 22 years ago. He being a bachelor and us with three little girls and twins on the way! Since we were busy young parents our friendship with John blossomed over several years.

He and my husband Gerald would often be found help each other on household projects sharing each other's muscle, knowledge, and tools. Over time, I found John to be a very good cook and to this day consider his Swedish pea soup to be one of our favorites. Visiting with John was always enjoyable. He loved to share his interest in history, science and especially the exploration of space. However, my favorite memory of John is when he would share stories of growing up in North Minneapolis. That always resulted in a good laugh and a genuine warm smile on his face. That smile is how I plan to remember a man of great passion, gentleness, and generosity.

Peace be with you John Proulx and to friends and family who are privileged to know him.
