“ I hired Roger as a regional sales representative back in 1989. We became good friends and I enjoyed his company very much. We would take sales trips (primarily the west coast which was his territory) that were always a great time. He was a true professional and an excellent customer relationship builder. I remember him talking about his family and the pride and love he had for them. Our time together was only a few years but it is remembered with fondness. I received a call from him a few years ago and we reminisced about our time together. I did send him a note when Karen passed away. He was a great guy.
