“Dad, I miss you everyday. I hope you're watching over me and that you know I'm taking good care of your accordion and your desk.

In the spring of 2011 I walked out to one of my gardens by My deck and out of nowhere there was a huge single plant, a white Lily! I don't have white Lilies as perennials. I've only had the ones that were annuals, in a pot, I bought for Easter. I was amazed that there was this huge plant that came out of nowhere.

White lilies are the flowers we chose for your casket and the spread was absolutely beautiful!

I have not seen it back again. Just the one year that spring following your passing.

So, did you do that? I believe it was a sign for me that you were ok. That you were still near me in spirit.

I can't believe you've been gone almost 14 yrs!

Oh, remember the year you passed and I kept seeing 11:11? So much so towards the end of the year of 2010! Remember, I said "Dad, please do not pass away on 1.1.11?" Well, maybe you would have but, You & God made sure My New Year's Day every year wouldn't be sad and You passed on 12.3.10.

I continue to see 11:11 all the time and I just say "Hi Papa or, Hi Dad" when I do!

I hope you're resting peacefully and know that I love you always.

Love, the baby of the family, the braat 🍌, the daughter that kept you up half the night when I was little (being I'm such a night owl) and who kept you on your toes! Jill XO ❤️
