“ I know alyssa from junior high and part of highschool, I never was "cool". At least not to myself. But she me always talked to me, and made me feel like a friend and was always so happy, cheerful, and sweet. Even though we were never to close of friends no matter where id end up seeing her she would smile and say hello. She was always so kind. I admired that about her. Rip angel. Im sad that I didnt know until Now. Death is apart of life, but why do some have life taken away so early in life?
