“ Andy (as I called him) was my boyfriend when we were 16 years old. I thought he was so cool, funny, and talented back then! He was one of the first boys I ever really liked.

I found out about his passing earlier this month and I still can't believe it. We had been communicating a little here and there over the past few years off and on via social media. Even though I hadn't seen him in 30 years I am sad to hear he's gone.

All my love to Andy and his family and friends. -Brittany

“ From being the ring bearer in my wedding to becoming an accomplished craftsman in the art of music and work working skills, Andy was always top notch in my book. He loved fishing, at Thanksgiving this past year we talked about going fishing with his cousins and other uncles. I will miss Andy, but I will never forget the man who treasured family and made them priority.

You were such a kind and sweet man, Andre. Thank you for fixing Brent's instruments so many times, the piano you gifted us, and taking us fishing. You will be missed. May you rest in peace.

My sister still talks about him when he went to India and went to learn musical instruments. He was very talented and I will miss him.
