

Arvid W. Braun

October 3, 2014

Braun, Arvid W. Age 93, of south Minneapolis, passed away on Oct. 3. Preceded in death by wife of 70 years, Marion Braun; son, Gregory W. Braun; and brother, Lowell Braun. Survived by son, Arvid James (Jim) Braun (Karen); daughter, Debbie St. Anthony (Joe); daughter-in-law, CeCe Braun; sister, Nadine Murphy; 9 grandchildren; 20 great-grandchildren; 1 granddog; and many other family members and friends. Arvid was born and raised in Morristown, Minnesota. He attended Concordia College and the University of Minnesota. In 1941 he and Marion were married. Arvid then began his working career at Glenn L. Martin Aircraft in Baltimore, Maryland. During World War II, he assisted in the production of the B-26 bomber, "The Marauder." Lonesome for Minnesota, Arvid and Marion moved to Minneapolis. There Arvid worked for over 25 years at Minneapolis Moline as a supervisor on the tractor line. He then worked at Possis Corporation in Golden Valley and Niro in Hudson, Wisconsin. Every day Arvid lived his life in a kind, respectful and steadfast manner, based on his faith in God, love of family and commitment to hard work. He was timely and precise in everything he did, and he expected the same from others. He was truly an excellent example of what it means to be a good man, husband, father and grandfather. Arvid was a quiet and gentle man of few words but, when he spoke, we listened. Mass of Christian Burial at Incarnation Catholic Church, 3817 Pleasant Ave. So., Minneapolis, on Tuesday Oct 7, at 11 a.m.. Visitation at 10 a.m. in the church. www.Washburn-McReavy.com Edina Chapel 952-920-3996
