“ Hello. I'm sorry I did not know Athos, but my dad sure did. I walked into his room at assisted living today, and he handed me the obits. He said Athos was a very good friend of his growing up in Hibbing! Apparently his father made wine in the basement, and that was the first alcohol my dad ever tasted. Joe would buy 2 barrels each year to make wine with. And he was a beautiful stonemason, expertly handling each stone individually to see how best to cut it. My dad loved watching him work. My dad also said the family was quite beautiful.

My dad said Athos and Dario were both brilliant. He didn't really know the sister since she was a bit younger and probably didn't run with the boys. Montis lived on 7th Ave. and the large Koskinen family lived on 10th Ave. That's how everyone identified each other—which Avenue they lived on.

Athos played halfback on the HS football team. They could both run like a deer.

Anyway—sorry this is a bit random. But my father with dementia was sad to see this in the paper this morning. He said the family was really, really nice and that he knew Athos and Dario really well. We are sorry for your loss. He sure left an impression on my dad, who spent his professional life in Duluth as a lawyer.

Take care.

“ My heartfelt sympathy to all of AJ's survivors. I was honored and privileged to know your dad and delighted to share a number of fun meals with him at Italian restaurants around town. He was an absolute delight! AJ and I met through St. Thomas and he was such a thoughtful and generous benefactor. He met with our student veterans and they enjoyed hearing about his family, his career and his time at St. Thomas as a student in the V-12 Naval program. I will remember AJ always and treasure the time I got to spend with him. Condolences and peace to you all.
