“ I am one of Bernie's skating friends. As such, Bernie was a kind and friendly presence in my life quite frequently! I enjoyed talking with him, sharing a common interest in Christianity, mathematics, and more. Bernie was one of my mathematics professors at the University many years ago and I vaguely remember his encouraging approach to teaching difficult mathematics courses. Anyway, his life was an inspiration to me. There's something about the smooth glide of ice skating that keeps us at it long after our skills begin to decline. Almost every day I skated, i knew I would be greeted by Bernie and his tracks would be out there on the ice somewhere. Now his tracks are gone and he has glided off into that glide beyond imagination which God has prepared for us since our creation. Skating and friends like Bernie are the inspiration which prove that belief to me! Blessings to you all. Rev. Dale Hulme, St. Olaf Lutheran Church, Mpls.
