“ I met Bethany in college many years ago but we lost touch... I decided to look her up this morning and unfortunately found she passed some time ago... I wouldn't have made it through even one semester of college algebra & probabilities without your help, you introduced me to all the restaurants on our mural lunch breaks that I still love today... I remember you saying you wanted to be the next dr Phil, always helping others. The world is a sadder place without you old friend 💔
