“ *Mom, yesterday the kids and I went to forever floral to see the Easter bunny as we do every year, and I always sent you a picture right after of the girls.
I sent you one again knowing you wouldn't be replying back. I'm sure you were there with us anyway.
I am having a difficult time believing that you're gone. Feeling empty, lost and alone.
We had our moments butting heads but we understood each other like no one else did. We were there for each other no matter what the other was going through at the time.
I was sure we would have had more time together, I don't understand how this happened overnight. We had just talked, I had just saw you.
You're always in my thoughts.*

“ *Mom, may you now be at peace.
Reunited with Dad, your heart no longer aching.
together I know you'll be watching over us, always with us by our side.
There will not be a day that goes by that I won't be thinking of you, wanting to hear you say "Love you more" just one more time.
I was so blessed to have you as my mother, I was lucky to have you living with me for a while, even though we butt heads a lot and we did. We always had our love for each other to get us through .
You helped me through some tough times in my life, you stuck by my side even through my ugly depression days (I don't know how you did) which I will always be grateful for and never forget.
You will be missed so much by so many people, I have heard so many amazing comments how you have touched so many life's.
You are a amazing woman, wife, mother, grandmother, friend.
Rest in peace Mom, I love you more!*
