In June 1956 she married George Haertel, Jr. They were married almost 50 years before he passed away in May of 2006. They raised three daughters, and had many happy memories of their life together including trips to 'The Shack' with extended family, time with family and friends at their cabin in Luck, WI, and traveling with friends throughout their marriage and into retirement to a variety of other countries.

Bev and Jim were blessed to meet later in life and fall in love. They were very happy and truly dedicated to one another. “ I want to share a couple of my favorite “Mom” memories. When my sisters and I were at that age when we thought we were too old and too cool for parents (Junior High?) we were shopping with her. We were trying to pretend that we weren’t there with a parent. She saw what we were doing, scurried over to us, grabbed our hands and started singing and skipping down the aisle. It is a wonderful memory.

When my sisters and I were born, my Mom made each of us a beautiful hand knitted Christmas stocking with our name on it. As my sisters got married and had kids, she would make another stocking with a new name. My family was always very supportive of me as a lesbian, yet I will never forget walking into their house for the first Christmas with my partner, and seeing that she had added a new stocking with my partner’s name to the fireplace. For her, it was an “of course” kind of thing. For me, it is one of my most sacred memories of her.
