

Brett Raymond Henkel

November 26, 1960 - November 6, 2021

It is with a heavy heart that I announce that the world lost a great friend, brother, uncle, and an awesome dad.

Brett Raymond Henkel passed on November 6th 2021 after a short but tough battle with cancer.

His enormous impact on friends and family will be felt for the rest of our lives.

Dad was an avid writer and lyricist. He had a brilliant mind, sardonic wit, and a philosophy of having fun every day no matter what. This is the best way I can describe my father in such a short amount of space.

I hope to see everyone at a celebration of life that is being planned for summer of 2022.

Keep in touch with family for details.
