Dave reminded me of my dad - a kind and gentle soul.

The last time Dave and dad were together is a memory I will treasure forever. Jim and Roger drove him to our house in Buffalo Lake. They visited, we had a meal (or at least appetizers) and Jim's Bears and my Browns were playing that day so we watched the game, too. We have some great pictures. Jim and Roger, you were lucky to have him as your dad.

The Asplund brothers were a special group of guys along with their oldest sister. I loved when the family spent time together. They really liked each other and they would help others whenever there was a need to be met. I hope they're throwing horseshoes in heaven together!
