“ I am sorry I am a day late and have not been on your page like I said I would. I am a terrible daughter. Anyway I wanted to wish you a beautiful and blessed birthday in Heaven my beautiful Mom & Best Friend. I cried a lot today. I miss you so very much and they say that time heals all wounds but my extreme pain and grief about your OB GYN killing you 03/26/2023 & taking you from me your Granddaughter Amber Skye and your Grandson Grant Alexander is beyond comprehension. We miss and love you so very much Mom & Nana xx

“ Just a few minutes ago it was 2 months since you died & left us to try to make a new normal but life will never be “normal” again or the same without you. It will be a painful existence from the day you died on 3/26/23 onward. There’s a song that I believe describes how I was feeling before the clock hit midnight & it’s called Drive by The Cars. The parts of the song that stood out were these:
Who’s Gonna Tell You Things Aren’t So Great?
You can’t go on thinking nothing’s wrong
Who’s gonna plug your ears when you scream?
Who’s gonna come around when you break?
You can’t go on thinking nothing’s wrong.

I miss & love  you so much Mom. 52 years since you had me on 12/19/1970 wasn’t nearly enough time. 68?was too young for you to die.....

“ Mom: Sorry I’m late posting. You know how I’m always running late. Today marks 2 months since you died & left us(just the of us) & we miss you tremendously. So does Marley & the kitty cats Alice, Jasper & Rose & also your lady surviving brother Paul. But, I’m the one that definitely cries the most; so many triggers; certain songs; certain cards; certain foods you liked; things that belonged to you. I kept some of your clothes(a few pairs of jeans & shorts) & 3 pairs of your shoes. Paul now has your cell phone. I was hoping that you would have had saved some of my messages & that you would have personalized your greeting that I could have recorded but you never did. I have only about 5 of your messages & wished I had many more.

“ This is such a sad day Mom. Today marks 7 weeks since you died & it's also Mother's Day; my very 1st one without you. I'm going to list the words to the Leo Sayer sang called More Than I Can Say that we both liked. I miss & love 💜💔🙏😭 more than I can say Mom.

Lyrics Copyright goes to Leo Sayer(or whomever else wrote the lyrics to More Tha I Can Say)

Oh oh, yea, yea

I love you more than I can say

I'll love you twice as much tomorrow

Oh love you more than I can say

Oh oh, yea, yea

I miss you every single day

Why must my life be filled with sorrow

Oh love you more than I can say

Don't you know I need you so

“ Mom: Today marks 6 weeks since you died & left me to try to survive & make a life without you; the greatest unconditional & unselfish love that only a Mother can give. I miss you more than I can say. I love you twice as much tomorrow & will miss you every single day. Why must my life be filled with sorry?(credit goes to Leo Sayer in his song More than I Can Say). This song aptly describes how I feel. I feel like sorrow is my only friend & you were my best friend Mom. I either feel like crying but the tears won't fall or cry several times a day. You were the kindest person I ever knew. I'm sorry that I haven't posted more on here. Just remember I love you but it will not be all right.

“ We are trying to make a normal life without you now, which seems to be impossible that's why we take it minute by minute every single day! We Michael & Tina, Marley, Rose, Jasper & Alice missing you so deep in our hearts it's literally heart breaking. We all Love you Forever!!! Mom you left us way to early you were still to young to die

I couldn't have said it any better. My heart hurts so deeply inside & I just cry & cry even in public. Mom I miss you more than words can say. I just wished I had gotten you help much sooner or you had only said something to me..... maybe then you would still be here with us & I never would have so much heartbreak & pain that is immeasurable. I miss & love you forever Mom.

Mom I miss you so very very much. I wish now that I had walked around the pond by our house every time you asked me instead of telling you no because I couldn't walk very far before getting exhausted. I know that you would have been understanding & that we could have sat on the bench together & would have just spent the quality time together. That would have been all that mattered. Now I am left feeling so guilty & regretting it. Now I can never get that time back since you left me on 3/25/23. I can't & won't forgive myself for all the things I could've & should've said & done. I can't stop crying. My heart hurts so bad/much. I love & miss you so very much & wish I would have told you. But, now, it's too late. If only you could come back home.....

“ Tomorrow will be 1 month since you died. Lots of painful 1st's remaining this year. 1st Mothers Day, your birthday, Thanksgiving & Christmas. I don't know how I'm going to get through them except for the support of my husband Michael. And keeping your memories alive with your only surviving brother Paul & anyone else who had the blessing of knowing you. Like the Poison song says, I Won't Forget You.

“ Mom It was 2 weeks today that you left us but you will never leave my heart. It's Easter today so I know you would have liked a slice of our Easter Bunny cake & would have attended church with your friend Alanna. I've cried so much today. I miss you more than life itself & I love you gorgeous (what we always said to each other every day as a greeting) & miss you & I love you more than I can say.

“ Just know that you all are in my thoughts and prayers at this difficult time. I know that family was the most important thing with Debbie, and she was gracious enough to include me within hers. I will cherish all of the memories I have of her, from the first day I met her, she definitely made a lasting impression. God Speed Debbie.

Thanks Carolyn. We really appreciate it & I hope we can carry that tradition on with you being apart of our family especially my Mom's birthday & holidays if you're not busy. She loved turkey at Thanksgiving but would always favor your vegetarian wild rice casserole!
