“ I've been around this world
Yet I see no end
All shall fade to black again and again
This storm that's broken me
My only friend
In this river all shall fade to black
In this river ain't no coming back
In this river all shall fade to black
Ain't no coming back
Withdrawn I step away
Just to find myself
The door is closed again
The only one left
This storm that's broken me
My only friend

“ I can't believe our beautiful Deb has been gone for a year. I miss her everyday. She was a bright light for many of us growing up, I admire her courage, wisdom and strength for all the battles in life. And mostly I admire her ability to always look at the bright side of every dark situation. I know that she is watching over all of us still, and as hard as it is for her to be away from her babies in body, she is always with them at heart. I love you Deb, if we could only turn back time....

“ I really don't know where to begin; Debi was truly one of my best friends in high school. She was so strong and tough, yet always had her wing over this sheltered little suburb girl - she showed me to "buck up" and to deal with typical teenage stress. Such a fun spirit, her eyes gleamed in excitement and she would never let a day go by with bad hair. Go Aquanet. My dear sweet Debi, I'll miss that spirit on earth but you are so strong that I know you are now comforting Mike, your children and loved ones with your beautiful wings. With God at your side, I love you Deb.

“Deb always resolved to live on the sunny side of every cloud. I first met her, like so many of us, at roller skating. She was outspoken, funny and always smiling. After several months, we became pretty good friends. When we finally made it to high school, we were inseparable. So much so that one time we were skipping (kids..no skipping) and the principal called my house and asked if Deb was there. From then on we decided we just better go to class because they would find us no matter where we were. We have had some wonderful times together and I will cherish them always. Deb taught me to take every disappointment as a stimulant and to live every day on the sunny side. Have hope and find comfort knowing your wife and mom was a wonderful inspiration to so many of us. Our thoughts and prayers will be with you during this very difficult time.

“Deb was the kindest friend I could ever ask for. I first met Deb at Saints Rollar Rink in 1981. She saw me alone in the entrance and just came up to me and said, "Hi, your pretty. Your my new best friend, wanna go to a party?" And a party it was being friends all these years. Through good times and bad she has been there for me. She was a wonderful mother who dedicated her life to her family. I am very proud of the woman she became and I am proud to say she was my close, dear friend. I will miss her always until we meet again. God must have needed a special angel to call her home so early....
