“ Debbie was my big sister and I will always remember her as a lover of animals. There wasn't a time in our childhood where she wasn't bringing home a stray.

I remember how happy she was when she was married and when she first became a mother. Joseph brought her the happiest moments in her life. She adored her son.

As we got older we didn't spend as much time together as we would have liked but we kept in touch on the phone and through Facebook. I hope that meant as much to her as it did me. She had many nieces and nephews that share memories of her as well.
