“ I was saddened to learn of Diane's death. I met and worked with her at St Joes Hospital, on the Chemical Dependency unit. Diane was a joy to work with, always pleasant, kind and thoughtful. She had a tender heart and was considerate of others. I remember on occasion, when we met for lunch at a Chinese food restaurant (something she really enjoyed!), the conversation would many times turn to her family. She adored them, and talked about her brother David. She seemed especially close to him. She also mentioned her nephew as well. I'm sure there were others, but I don't remember. I do recall her talking about pleasant times they had at a family cabin up in Canada. That seemed really special to her. Diane had a beautiful heart, and will be missed.
