“ Pat, I am so saddened to hear of Don's passing; I know how hard he fought these past months to stay with you and the family. So glad to hear of the good times he was able to spend with his brother. My thoughts are with you all. I'll be calling you again later in the week.

“ I was deeply saddened to hear of Don's death, Pat. Please know that you are in my thoughts, dear friend. May you find comfort and strength in the knowledge of a life well lived.

“ Pat, my heart goes out to you and your family with the loss of your husband.

I've followed your kind and wise posts on PubForum for many years, and just want you to know as I have come to know you through the internet, after all these years, I have also come to care about you and your family.

Some say book introductions are the hardest to write, but in my experience, it's been the conclusions I find most difficult. I wish you much comfort in crafting this last chapter of your life together with Donald as you move on to the next book.
