“ *Don was our mailman for many years in the 1980's in Minnetonka. I owned a business in the Country Village Shopping Center. Every day Don came in, he brought a smile and a joke. In the summer he wore a pith helmet that made him look like a jungle adventurer. He would say he encountered a raging bull elephant that morning on his route, which was why he had to keep wearing his helmet. Don brought smiles to us every day, along with the mail.
