

Donna J Murphy

November 29, 2014

Murphy, Donna J. Passed peacefully 11/29/14. After spending her youth in Estherville, Iowa, she gravitated to the Twin Cities. Moving to the East Coast she met her husband-to-be, Patrick on the 54th floor of the Empire State Building. Together they circled back to the Twin Cities. Her business career encompassed Advertising, Education and Health Care. Donna was a gifted writer with a keen intellect and a wicked wit. A mentor to young women, a true patriot and a rabid Green Bay Packer fan. She gives thanks to the Lord for her life, to her beloved country for the privilege of living in America, to her wonderful Mom and Dad, to Patrick, the love-of-her-life and to her many friends; devoted to the older ones, contemporaneous to the younger ones. To her friends she sends this message "The perfect tribute would be your remembrance of the good times we've had together." Memorial celebration on St. Patrick's Day (3/17/15) at Washburn-McReavy in Edina.
