“ Several years ago, Dr. Paul was the first doctor to diagnose my illness with some understanding of the suffering I experienced. Later, we became friends but I will always remember him telling me, "Don't worry, I am your doctor." I lost touch after I regained my life, in large part due to his help, and I was dumbstruck today when I learned he had died. The city, the country, and the world has lost an incredible soul when Dr. Jeevan Paul left this world. I know his family has suffered a terrible loss. So have we all.

“ My husband and I were both very saddened by the news of Dr. Paul's death. He had been our doctor for over 5 years. We followed him from Model Cities clinic to Park Nicollet and hated to see him leave that system. He was a very caring man who took the time to talk to you in "plain english". He always made time to see you and gave us his personal phone numbers in case of emergency. There will never be another man or doctor in our life as gracious or caring as Dr. Paul. Our thoughts and prayers are with his family and we are hoping they are coping without him in their daily lives. God Bless you and Dr. Paul.

“ Like many others, I was saddened to see the item of Jeevan's death in the Goshen College Bulletin. Jeevan is one of those persons with whom I have a short time together, but whom you never forget. I, too, trust that his family is comforted by all these kind entries.

“ I don't know when my June Goshen College Bulliten came but I just saw it tonight. My interest quickened to see Jeevan's name and I smiled in anticipation of news of a long-out-of-touch friend. I quickly read, "Jeevan Paul '90, Minneapolis, Minn., April 25." Not understanding, I was stunned to see the heading above: "Death". So stark, so abrupt, that word twisted my insides. Now having read in these entries what Jeevan's life has meant since I last saw him, I am stricken again. But I am also deeply touched by the testimonies to Jeevan's immense love and care for all he met. And I am humbled by his faithfulness and integrity to his beliefs. I knew him as medical student, co-worker and most blessedly, friend. I know he had worries, but Jeevan always demonstrated that same firm-gentle compassion and the evident delight in life that he shared with others. Despite the years, I feel his loss acutely along with so many. I am also reminded to try to emulate such a beautiful, selfless life. Thank you, Jeevan. I pray that you are at peace and your family has some comfort knowing how much you mean to so many.

“ There were many students who made an impact on my life while I served as Campus Minister at Goshen College, but none made such a lasting impression as Jeevan did. His love, care, and compassion for others permeated his entire being. I am saddened to hear of his death, but believe he truly lived up to his desire to serve others with dignity, respect, and compassion. Rest in peace, Jeevan.

“ Jeevan:

We were so deeply saddened to hear about your death! Indeed, this was not only a devastating blow to us, but to all your patients, friends and medical colleagues alike!

I don't think I will ever be privileged enough to have a doctor again, who was as nurturing and caring as Dr. Paul!

In the two short years I knew Dr. Paul, he saved my life twice-and he looked beyond my physical challenges to treat me like an average woman! We knew Jeevan was a special person when he dubbed Mom, an angel for being my caregiver!

May you rest in peace, Dr. Jeevan Paul, M.D.! We respected you...and We WILL NEVER FORGET YOU!

“ This morning I was told of the passing of my doctor, Dr. Jeevan Paul. The feeling of shock and sadness can't describe the impact his death has made on me. I have never in my life met a physician who showed true compassion the way he did. Dr. Paul treated me as a person and not just another patient. When he would enter the room and ask, “ How are you doing?” he wasn't just being polite, he truly wanted to know. His compassion showed in his eyes and in his words. My deepest sympathy goes to all who had the privilege of knowing Dr. Paul. To his family and those closest to him, my prayers are with you in this very difficult time. “ Jeevan lived with intensity and conviction, and it is hard to express the impression he left on so many of us. Although a decade has gone by since Jeevan and I last spoke, I always sought news of him and expected one day to share laughter and stories -- chuckles of wisdom as we looked back at our shared history, and a sense of marvel at the ongoing pain and miracle of living. Among the unforgettable instances is a spontaneous pancake "communion" at daybreak down by the dam in Goshen. I am thankful that the load Jeevan carried for so long is lifted even as I mourn his loss. Above all, I celebrate Jeevan's life.

“ I met Jeevan when he was a medical student rotating through Hennepin County Medical Center. I remember long nights of call with long talks with Jeevan He was so full of idealism and compassion and was so ready to fulfill his role as a special kind of physician. I also had the pleasure of working with Jeevan as an intern at HCMC. He held steadfast to his beliefs, values and ideals about the role a physician could play in someone's life. I hadn't heard much about him since but was able to read some stuff I found in a google search and all the guest book entries. I was so happy to see he had become what he set out to be. Dying young never seems to make sense especially when one has such great potential. He touched so many lives at HCMC. I am deeply saddened by his death and the loss of such a great man. My thoughts and prayers are with his co-workers, patients, friends & family. God bless.

“ I had soo much to share with you on our next meeting. The new job with Dr. Sairam, the lighter vacume I got, and my first vacation with my husband.

Katie broke me the news the day before I was to see you and I sobbed. We olny had just begun on our journey together to over come the bad things that had happened to me.

Now you are gone, just look out for me up there. God had to have your beautiful soul back where angels belong (in heaven).

I do feel sad for our loss and I don't think you where done here but who am I to say that.

You got me on a great start and I will keep on going with you in my thoughts forever.

God bless your family in this time of loss. But after we get over our selfish human ways, you are among the angels right where you belong.

To your children ;your father was a great doctor,teacher,man, and human respect his memory.

“ My deepest sympathy goes out to Jeevan's family. He was a part of my "work" family at United Pain Center. I had tremendous respect for him and he never forgot to say good morning, with a smile, to me....his smile was kind and true. He will be missed. My heartfelt prayers go out to his family.

“ I am so sorry for your loss. I only worked with Jeevan for six months at the Pain Clinic, but very much respected his skill and kindness.
