

Elizabeth A. Neuman

November 29, 2012

Neuman, Elizabeth A. 82, Nov.29, 2012 peacefully at home in Minneapolis with family. Daughter of Marvin Trisko and Imogene (Perry) Trisko, she was predeceased by husband Emery J. Battis and leaves 3 children, Melanie Neuman of Sudbury, MA, Audrey Neuman of Bloomfield, CT, and Peter Neuman of Minneapolis, son-in-law James Waggener, grand-children Cameron Waggener and Hayden Waggener, as well as sister Mary T. Anderson of Golden Valley, MN, ex-husband Arthur Neuman, step-children Chris Battis, Michael Battis, Peter Battis, Rob Battis, and Wendy Federer, and their children. Liz attended Northrup (Blake), Lasell College, and the University of Minnesota. She lived in New Haven, CT, Washington, DC, and Marlborough, MA, savored summers in Mattapoissett, MA and Williamstown, MA and returned to live with family in Minneapolis shortly before her death of Alzheimer's. Liz's love of people and of the arts shone in her work and volunteering at theatres and opera, including The Guthrie Theatre, The Long Wharf Theatre and The Washington National Opera, and at Yale University. She was spirited, compassionate, fun and engaging and made dear friends wherever she went. Her wit, charm, grace, enthusiasm and passion for life will be deeply missed by all who knew her. Information can be obtained on her Facebook Page for a Memorial to be held at a later date. If desired, contributions can be made in her memory to MotherWoman, Inc., a non-profit organization providing education and support to mothers & their families at www.motherwoman.org.
