“ Marion was an interesting lady. She told good stories, was a master at crafts, and loved to play cards with her grandchildren and great grandchildren. She was independent and often booked her own trips. She never missed an outing with other residents at Masonic Home. She could be a little feisty, impatient and stubborn! She became a part of our family when her granddaughter was married to my son. She didn't have many family members living close by so she spent most holidays with us. I always bought her clothes for Christmas and she would always tell me she was the "best dressed person" at Masonic. We have lots of good memories of her and will miss her. We know it was time to say goodbye and that she is now rejoined with her husband, parents and sister. Rest in peace sweet lady!
