“ I am Fern's estranged daughter. She's been dead a year and I do not miss her. She was a terrible human and treated her daughters horribly. She was abusive and twisted. She died with her two older daughters refusing to attend her service. Her third daughter she helped into an early grave by enabling her alcoholism.

The only good thing she did was to die. No one misses her. We are all relieved she cannot hurt anyone ever again.

“ Oh my giddy Aunt!

Auntie Fern loved to talk about this family non-stop! From Wajoe to Izzy and Aunt Leah to her hounds and daughters her smile was contagious as one could see the glee in her memories of days gone by. She lived life as she wanted, and as all of us - would have written a couple chapters of her life differently.

She had many fond memories of moving to the Mini-apple, and had several child hood friends she kept in touch with over the years.

We had BIG plans for this spring, but those will have to wait for now. Although she had a Catholic upbringing that did NOT serve her later in life

She was STILL looking for past good deeds to redeem her from a life of sin as the catholics teach, and that is impossible and a false doctrine - the SOUL that sins, it shall die.

There are 2 priests in the Fillion family tree - my brother Tom and myself, and we did everything we could think of to bring the good news and gospel to Auntie the last few years through her constant resistance -----> but i do BELIEVE that we were finally successful and that her crimson stains of sin have been washed clean and her soul has been saved from death.

She dances around God's throne now with past family members and friends - and her and her sister Carole have had the FIRST decent adult conversation with laughter and hugs and kisses in their lives.....

Just THINK of the wonders her eyes can now see.....thank you for this one Lord!
