

Forouzandeh Jelveh Tehrani

March 19, 1951 - May 12, 2020

It is the hardest time, for a child, to see the one who brought him in this life, going into Eternity.

We all ask ourselves why good people have to suffer so much, going through unbearable pain and deal with diverse medical causes? We will never know the answer! its the mystery of life. We know when we are born, but we don't know when we are dying.

My mother was the sweetest person I've ever known, not because she was my mother, but because she was born with this crystal clear soul, kindness and generosity. Evidently, she did not deserved to suffer so much with the cruelty of brutal cancer disease. I always asked my God, if there was anything I could do, in order to make her pain go away? Sad, but the power is not in our hands to make such changes.

She left to her new place, leaving behind an empty spot in my life and her loving family members. A world without her, will never be the same. She was my angel, my motivation to be who I am today. I learned so many positive things from her and all the memories will be permanent in my life. I know that she will always watch over me and her loved ones and she will want us to be happy. The greatest and the strongest person that I know in this life can never be replaced. She will always be missed and her memories will permanently be alive in our hearts.
