“ Love is stronger then death even though it can't stop daeth from happening ,but no matter how hard death tries it can't seperate peoplefrom love .It can not take away our memories either, In the end, life is is stronger than death. After death you will be what you where before your birth,..Schopenhauer said that...oh ya!You're father taught me some important life lessons,.Some I appreciated then, some I appreciate now. I'm sure he died with his boots on.Hope he'll be pushing up trilliums soon....give us a chance to see him again.Werner Pavlovich

“ David, Jolanta and girls, We are so sorry to hear of the loss of Frank. He was a giant and a leader in the insurance industry. I'll never forget the time, a few years ago, that David brought Frank into the office with him. Frank made himself comfortable in the library. When I learned Frank was there, I stopped in to say hello. Why wasn't I surprised that he was pouring over the latest publications for contractual liability? He told me the learning never ends and he was fascinated by the changes in the contractual law. He is irreplaceable. May your memories sustain and comfort you.
