“ Oddly, I was just thinking of Frank on Thursday night, wishing he was at the Queers show at the Triple Rock. A guy up front kind of looked like him, so I enjoyed pretending it was.

“ Hi Frank,I just found this site. I needed to look you up for some reason today. *sigh*I miss you. Your quirky sense of humor, your crazy hair, your responsibly impulsive outlook, the way you'd con me into doing (almost)anything....all of those amazing memories. I look at that picture of us from one of Paul and Jeremy's cocktail parties, and it brings a smile to my face. You just had that effect on people. I knew the instant we met that we would be great friends. But then again, you already had a nickname for me, so I was sold!! am so proud to have known you. I think about you. Every. Day. I probably always will. You were one of my favorite people, and still are. I will come back here and visit from time to time. Share old memories when I need to.... Til we met again, old friend,Your Scenery xo

“ Frank; Derek & I and you and Jess never got to make that mean meal that we always talked about. I thank you for being such a great individual. I am a better person thanks to your friendship, your smile, your warm heart and everything you ever said or did for me. I miss you. I am so happy that I had the chance to have a few drinks with your Mother and hear some of her cute stories about you. Jess I am so sorry....If you need anything please let me know what I can do. I am still in shock and so saddened... Love you buddy.

“ I signed this guest book once already, but i just remembered and wanted to tell everyone something about Frank that makes me smile. We had been talking about starting a band, it was to be so rad. The first thing he gave me was the queers cd. he said " listen to this...this is what I want our band to sound like." i was cool with that. then he told me how he had it all planned out. The band was to be called The Heartbreaks. Our first album was going to be titled Boy meets Girl. The 2nd, Boy gets Girl, and our 3rd was Boy loses girl. He told me he had all the song titles figured out. Everything was so thought out it made me laugh. I asked him if he had written any songs, he said " No...I haven't got to that yet." I will always remember that. 3 albums so planned out, yet no songs. wish we could have jammed more in my basement. This year I will name my habanero salsa after frank....i just don't know what yet. thanks for all the memories, buddy.

He lit up when a friend walked in the room and happily cajoled me into going on all the scariest rides at the amusement park.
