“ Farewell to an old friend,

Fritz was a great person to be with during those earlier college years when times could be anything from sad to joyful. He seemed to come in with high spirits when others needed that influence. We shared a passion for older corvettes which was perhaps more of an affliction for a college student. As with many after college, he and I went off to new locations, careers, and families and lost touch with each other. It is an unfortunate and too frequent reality. Our condolences to the family and friends of Judd Kirklin and a memorial as per his wishes.
