“ His ideas and passion to tell a story made a mark in many people's hearts, including mine, and his efforts to tell about Jesus was especially inspiring.

The "Read and Share" Bible animation series have been loved by many many families, and once in a while, I still get contacted by friends who discover that I was a part of it. But only few would know what it took for Gary and his team to make that animated film come to life.

But more than these, Gary was such a kind, and generous, and fun person to be with. I will always remember his special melody he used to add in birthday songs.

I wish I could have met him once more before he had to leave. I'll have to wait till I see him again in the Father's eternal home... Until then, you will be missed, Gary.

“ So sorry to hear of Gary’s passing
I got to know him while having a office in the Technology Dive building.
We would talk at the end of the day about how our days had been.
Always enjoyed hearing what project he was working on next.

The definition of the true gentleman had Gary’s for reference

*Best to the family

“ When I first met Gary I was struck by his enthusiasm and creative mind. He had a thousand ideas and I believed they were all good ones. I learned over the next few years that his creativity and passion would only be surpassed by his kind heart and gentle spirit.
Rest my friend.
