“ *Morgan, Susan, Conor and Kieran,
I am sorry to learn you lost your dear son and big brother. There are times in life that terrible things happen that never should happen and are without reason. The hurt is so deep we cannot process it except over a very long period of time. Our hearts break and we do not understand, nor will we; yet it is real. Hold on to one another and others. Reach out as you are able. Know that we are promised this: love, hope and faith are all that really lasts and of the three Love is the big deal -- not our time on earth or our thoughts or theories or theologies or accomplishments or votes or anything else at all. Simply love -- because actually it is the only deal. Peace to each of you, knowing that when there are no words that the "Spirit intercedes with sighs too deep for words." Each day, simply love as you are able -- through the tears and through the anger -- and when the pain grows unbearable at points, be carried by the love of others for you and for your son and brother. Hug, touch, heal in whatever time is needed. You are not alone. You are loved and so is Ian.*
