“Every time I saw Isaiah, I thought, “Could this kid be any sweeter, cuter, and more special?” And my answer was always, “No.”

“Bubba, as your mom and many others called you. I remember when your mom took you to the CUP, you were about six or seven. Me and you had a little kick about with the ball... then a few weeks ago your mom posted that you made your high school team and it was like me making my high school team (cause I never did) and I felt immensely proud of you and your achievements. And so I was looking forward to asking your mom to come by the CUP next year so we could have a proper kick about (footballer to footballer) only to get the devastating news that you're no longer here in the flesh with us kid.. I am happy to say that you weren't yet a world player but you are a world star, known to so many people across the world. You will always be in my memory Bubba. Rest well kid.
