“ Dear Jack,
Its Helens granddaughter Diane...so sad to see that you have left us and oh my God all of the memories at the Print Shop. From Lund Press to Anderberg Lund to Anderberg Innovations!
Helen swore you threw me in Lake Minnetonka in 1975 when I fell off of the dock, geez.
I will never forget your laugh and dedication you always reminded me of Jerry Lewis.
You would tell me that people in your business never die they fade away.
Yes you found the way to a great business by making it a great business.
I will miss you forever even if Helen disagrees,

“ I first met Jack because of our related business interests, but I came to know him as one of those rare human beings that gives you faith in humanity. I am a fairly irreverent, skeptical person, not given to blind faith, first impressions, or hero worship, but from the first time I met Jack, I liked him. He came at you, straight forward, honest, no B.S., happy, smart, confident, and I stress . . . “He came at you”. I loved that about him. He was the type of business man I always hoped to be, and although our worlds were far apart, I count myself lucky for what limited personal relationship we had.

Mari, Jack could not have been the man he was without a woman like you by his side. Mary and I are sincerely sorry for your loss, and are saddened the world has lost a person like Jack.

“ So many memories with my Uncle Jack... He made a big impact in my life in my younger years. He definitely was one of the “Anderberg Boys” ... the same sense of humor, business savvy & boisterous laugh. Rest in peace.
