I got to know Jean many years ago when she was in the entertainment business and I was a corporate meeting planner. You always knew your event would go off without a hitch if Jean was in charge of the entertainment.
She was always very professional, but with just the right amount of fun mixed in.
In recent years I mostly saw Jean at book club gatherings, or over lunch. Jean was one of those rare people to whom “Tell me what’s happening with you.” was truly a heartfelt question.
I will miss Jean a lot. My heart goes out to her family, and to all her friends who have lost a wonderful part of their lives - way too early.
