“ I met Jeanne four years ago at AAUW in a small working group that was proposing topics for the next year. Jeanne and I suggested Climate Change but some of the older members far younger than Jeanne didn't agree. She did not give up and the following year we had a two year series entitled Mother Earth and we had so many Sessions on Climate Change and other environmental topics. She was our AAUW Mother Earth and such a mentor for all of us.

“ Dear Family: Please accept my belated condolence for the loss of your loved one. To live to be this age is truly a blessing from God as stated at Psalm ninety verse ten. Imagine your loved one living "forever". That is what the Bible promises at Revelation chapter twenty-one verse four because one of the things that will be gone is death and Isaiah chapter twenty-five verse eight says that "He (God) will swallow up death forever." For those who have died, God promises they will be resurrected back to earth under peaceful conditions. Your beloved is included in that promise. Read Acts chapter twenty-four verse fifteen, Psalm thirty-seven verse eleven and Psalm thirty-seven verse fifteen. We can trust God and put all of our faith in him because he can not lie according to Numbers chapter twenty-three verse nineteen.
