“ Although I met Jeff through work, he quickly became a friend and in all our business dealings he always treated me as a friend first. We shared some common interests so a phone call that started out about an oven that wouldn't stay lit would inevitably turn into a discussion about the latest, greatest cartridge or a trip to the range. An unannounced afternoon drop-in at his company would turn into an evening around the table at his house. There, I had the pleasure of meeting his wonderful wife, that never batted an eye when Jeff would just bring a friend home from work. I guess that's just who he was.

“ Our condolences to the family, friends and team of co-workers at Harvest Bakery Services for your loss of Jeff. We enjoyed our relationship with him and realize what a kind, thoughtful and considerate person he was. We know this must be a terrible loss for all of you. We hope you will find comfort in the wonderful memories he left with all of you.
