“ It's been almost four years now and it's still not easy to think about it. With him and my my mom both gone it has been tough but I know he is with his parents and not suffering in this messed up world. You are missed dad

I had not heard about Jeff's passing - when I was told I was overcome with sadness and tears rolled down my cheeks. Jeff and Alicya were fairly new in our condo building but they made themselves known and were just the greatest addition to our residency. Always friendly and welcoming - I went to visit them ever now and then and was always greeted warmly. I will miss Jeff's warm heart and ready smile and sense of humor. Sending my heartfelt sympathy to Alicya and the Peterson families.

“ Saddened by the news of my friend of over 50 yrs Jeff. My blessings go out to his family on this Saturday. I would like to share my thoughts below.

Thoughts and Beliefs about Jeff Peterson. [L]
[SEP]

Let it be known that Jeff is watching over all of our lives down here on earth. By what I call the, "Balcony Of Life" When you [L]
[SEP] are walking or facing North South East or West through the paths of life. Jeff is looking ahead down these paths to see if it is safe. So when you feel "warm and fuzzy" it is Jeff telling you it is safe to walk down these paths to achieve and fulfill your goals and dreams. If you are cold or trip up in your walking step it is Jeff telling you to be careful possible danger down the path ahead and will guide you through these dangers. This is one of many ways that Jeff is in your heart and you are in his heart forever and ever. Amen. [L]
[SEP]

The balcony of life is a place in heaven where our loved ones can go to view the rest of us down here on earth.

Jeff had been a great friend for about 45 years. I'm so sad for this loss as he always brightened your mood, always had a smile and always made you laugh. RIP handsome. You are sorely missed. Love you Jeff
