“ I used to live with Kayla her mom Penny and her brother Travis I believe in 6th grade!! I will always remember those memories, so much love and laughter in their home. Rest In Peace Kayla thanks for the moments ✨💖

“ Kayla was always so sweet, we randomly met at a party and ever since then we always tried to get together bc we just always had so much fun together. She always loved dressing up for Halloween & so did I. The world will miss her light. Rest easy Kayla! So glad we got the time together we did! Wish I seen you more after we drifted apart. You're an amazing soul & will be missed. RIP beautiful girl.

“ I did not know Kayla but sending prayers to the family and friends. I know the pain of losing a loved one so young. I lost a son, a daughter and 16 yr old granddaughter. 39, 51, and 16. Kayla's memory will live on in your life forever and you will see her again one day.

Penny, I thought I'd be able to rearrange the order and delete a few pics since I did a large-group upload, but it won't let me. If you have the ability to delete the album, please do, as I'd like to re-upload after sorting the order and not selecting a few pics.

I also tried to upload a bunch of Kayla with you, Travis, and the family, but those did not upload.

“ While looking at Kayla's pics, I found photos of this quote and a page from a book and thought how absolutely appropriate they are:

"In the end, only three things matter: how much you loved, how gently you lived, and how gracefully you let go of things no meant for you." --Buddha

"Let go of unrest. Let peace fill the void. We do not have to forfeit our power, our God-given personal power -- or our peace -- to to do the work as we are call upon to do today. We will be given all the power we need to do what we are meant to do when it is time. Let peace come first. Then proceed. The task will get done, naturally and on time." [unfortunately, I didn't capture the citation info in the photo I took of her post]

We love you! God rest your too-young, beautiful soul, Kayla, while he wraps his loving arms around your mother, brother, and extended family, and "let peace fill the void" during these difficult times.

*Your cousins,
Brandy and Buzz Buzinski*

“ Although I cant be there with you my darling sister ...my heart is with you always ...I will never forget those special moments we shared when I was over state side last time sadly in other sad circumstances...and to see how grown up Kayla 'Dolly' was and so beautiful too ...I don't know why she had to leave us so suddenly life is so cruel sometimes... but her memory will live on along with her soul deep in our hearts...and always take that with you Penny... Nobody can take those away from you...Love you now and always Bev <3 XxX
