“ I met Keith at Clare Bridge as I was visiting my mother. We had many conversations which covered a wide range of topics. Even when he was not at his best, he was always gracious and concerned about the feelings of those around him--what my grandmother would have called "a natural gentleman." I feel fortunate to have known him, and only wish I could have met him sooner.

May the memories you share be a comfort as you adjust to life without him.

Regards,

Ann Croaston
