“ I have spent much time trying to think what I could possibly say through all of this. There are no words, yet so many I could say. To be blessed with a father-in-law I called my second dad and my friend is priceless to me. We shared laughs, tears and of course treats. I will miss hearing the same story several times during a visit, watching you checking your dresser drawer to make sure your wallet was safe and enjoying the treats brought to you. The love I felt for you and your entire family is so genuine, always know that. I will forever miss our greetings with your big smile and our hugs good-bye until next time. I know I will see you again. Embrace this new home and watch over us.
Love you so much,
Erin
