“ A fine young boy, Kenneth was in the Bruno school at an early age. I attended there. It was in the first grade or so when we had Mary Murphy, a really fine teacher. One day at lunch time (in those days we carried our lunches— no warm meals!—Kenny's cousin Harold was telling a story about Kenny. Harold said Kenny would sometimes gets a sandwich in his lunch pail he didn't like and when he would get one of these, to solve the problem, he'd "eat it fast." I think there's a chance that Harold would remember this story, even about 75 years later. Condolences to all Kenny's family and friends.
