“ I still remember the first time I met Kiera, it was immediately glaring that she was different in a way that words can't do justice, the reality of just how vibrant, warm, and refreshing her personality truly was will forever be her legacy. Her smile was captivating, her laugh was contagious, her presence, irreplaceable. She could laugh with the best of them, and she could bring comfort in the most harrowing of circumstances. The focus of her attention was never selfish, her benevolence permeated every interaction she had. These characteristics will live on in her daughters, who both perfectly mirror what was beautiful in Kiera and eludes most others. I am grateful for the privilege of knowing you over the years, seeing you grow and seeing the growth you nurtured in others, especially and unmistakably in my brother Carl. My family is irrevocably heart broken by the loss of Kiera, as is anyone who has had the opportunity of knowing her. I thank God for who Kiera was to my family; a loving wife to my brother, a fantastic mother to my nieces, an excellent aunt to my children, and a sister but more so a friend to my wife and me. We will forever remember her as one of a kind, and only hope that we all can capture just a little bit of what made Kiki Kiki, and apply it to our lives.
