“ Larry was a great guy to work with always full of joy and laughter. I worked with Larry for over a decade and he was the kind of person who you enjoyed working with. Always polite and willing to help out with whatever needed to be done. I just recently found out about his passing as I retired five years ago. He will be missed by the whole department. Rest In Peace.

“ I'll always remember Larry with a smile on his face and a twinkle in his eye; a chat with him in the hallways always brightened up my day. He never lost his empathy even when dealing with life's various struggles and conflicts, always thinking things through before invariably taking the high road. Larry will be missed by all. Larry is why we want to develop even better medical devices. My condolences and best wishes to his family.

“ For the relatively short time that I knew Larry, he made an impact in my work life. He loved helping others and was a really great guy to work with. At times when I had a head-scratching polymer issue, he was my go-to guy. He would often tell me how proud he was of his kids and about their various achievements! Words cannot fully describe how much I will miss him and his smile. My deepest sympathies to his family. You are all in my thoughts and prayers.

“ I also experienced the joy of being Larry’s manager for a number of years at Boston Scientific; I can honestly say that I learned more from him than he learned from me. Larry really had a keen grasp of materials and materials testing and was a valuable asset to BSC. But more importantly, he was a great guy to work with in terms of attitude; being a team player; and displaying a humble spirit. My sincere condolences to his family.

“ Larry was a guy who always had time for the new guy at work. He was willing to share all he knew and also gain insight from the junior engineer. He will be missed, but his willingness to help others will be carried on.

“ I had the pleasure to work with Larry on projects at Boston Scientific, where he would help resolve key issues using his immense knowledge of materials and testing, and willingly share that knowledge. I ultimately had the great pleasure of being his manager for many years and enjoyed his positive and enthusiastic approach to the day – Willing to take on the mundane and huge challenges! We shared many stories about our kids’ sporting activities and successes. He will be greatly missed by his team at Boston!

Thoughts and prayers for his family.

“ Larry was good man and kind heart. I was new in Larry's department and did not know much about their process. I needed someone to train me the process and show me around. There are over 15 Engineers that worked on the department and like Larry had a lot of experience but when I asked for help to train no one step up the plate except Larry. He made me comfortable and he shared his knowledge in away that will help me for the coming years at Boston Scientific. Thank you Larry! You will be greatly missed.

“ I am a long-time employee of Boston Scientific and have worked with Larry on multiple projects. Larry was great to work with and was always ready with a helping hand. His knowledge and dedication will be missed by many. When I was getting ready to have my knee replaced he spent a lot of time explaining what to expect and what I needed to do to prepare myself and my house for the surgery. This was typical Larry, always willing to lend a hand or share his knowledge whether it be for work or personal issues. He will be greatly missed. My deepest sympathies to the family, please know you will be in my thoughts and prayers.

“ I first met Larry when I started working at Boston Scientific in 2006. While there are many instances where I appreciated his knowledge and wisdom on items at work, I am most grateful for his aid in helping my wife and I move from the Midway area to our home in Ramsey, Mn (along with 2 other individuals). The 1920's upper/lower style house rental in the Midway area was only a temporary residence, while my wife and I were selling our house in Denver, Colorado. Most of our belongings remained boxed up in the basement of the 2-story / 2- family house, with the steep stairway those homes typically have. In the basement was my old 1950's Norge steel refrigerator that had been converted into a kegerator. Larry, in his typical can-do attitude, took it upon himself to move that refrigerator upstairs on his own. Unfortunately, I was in the moving truck arranging large items, so was unable to warn him that the refrigerator was a 2-man job. Larry wrenched his back moving that refrigerator - but he did get it upstairs! He went home shortly thereafter, but I have always been extremely grateful for his help in getting my wife and I moved into our final home in the Twin Cities. I will truly miss a dear friend!
