“ Lisa, I will never forget walking down Fourth street with you, to have coffee at the Valli. You braved the deep snow while your cast filled with snow. I miss our long chats, your spontaneous laugh, and friendship.

“ My Dear Lisa,

More than a sister, more than a friend. You are my Spiritual Mate now and always. I'm blessed that we could be together again in physical form, this blip of time, our dance in this incarnation.

While your body has passed, your Spirit has grown and shines brighter & bigger than the Heart of the Sun. Your life made my Spirit grow too. Thank you for that!

You have now re-membered with the Great I AM. You've gone home to the eternal All That Is. Now, our Spirits dance in celebration once again where there is no time, no here or there. No sooner or later. Just forever.

Continue to fill all of our hearts with your love & companionship. Be our shining light on the occasional dark, back roads of life. And please, shine ever brighter as the joy & bliss before us is more than we can really begin to grasp.

A sister is a gift to the heart, a friend to the spirit, a golden thread to the meaning of life.

Isadora James

You are a graceful & merciful Spirit that has taught many of us so much. Now, it's up to us to pay this forward exponentially to those we touch for just a moment in time, or a lifetime. That's a gift of tenderness; a signature of your precious life. That's your gift to us to share to all.

Please know...I only want to see you laughing in the Purple Rain.

I love you,

Mark

“ Lisa,

I've been going through old pictures for your service. Pictures I haven't looked at in many years.

Pictures of kisses and hugs, mugging for the camera, laughter. No one could make me laugh like you.

The memories that are suddenly so sharp. I'm thinking what went wrong?

Then I remember the arguments, slammed doors, tears. I guess we didn't pull the camera out at those times.

One picture hits me. I remember it. You and Charlie, sixth months old, are in the cowboy truck.

(Remember how we'd drive Charlie around? In the cowboy truck, in the middle of the night, in the middle of the city? Just to get him to sleep?)

We are going to Easter at my parents. You are beautiful and you are looking right at me. So many years ago and you are looking right at me.

You are thinking "where are we going?". Not that day, but just "where are we going?".

I couldn't answer.

Through it all, you've been in my heart.

Peace Lisa

Mike

“ That smile. That laugh. The way she said hello. It could be years since we'd seen each other and it would feel like we'd just had coffee the day before. Such a loss.
