“ Mom I have so many memories and wish I could have had the courage to stand up and speak. I will never forget the day you came home and you planted your :stick" in the back yard and me and dad went out when you were not looking and grabbed a bunch of branches and stuck them in the ground all around your "stick" (baby tree) that one didn't make it. But you tried again and today I look in the backyard as I take care of your house and that stickoth had turned into an actual small tree.. lol it was so fun... you were always so easy to prank or meds with and all the laughs I miss you every second of the day. I love you so much
