

Marcia Kaye Jackson

April 7, 1943 - April 26, 2025

JACKSON, Marcia Kaye, age 82, of Minneapolis, MN, passed away suddenly April 26, 2025. She was born to Gladys (Bannarn) and Wilbert Grigsby on April 7, 1943.

She attended the family alma mater Patrick Henry High School, where she was also a cheerleader. Yet probably her greatest pride were her six children, who she always eagerly introduced, as well as her grandchildren, who she emphatically insisted were all good-looking.

Marcia was a devout Jehovah's Witness. She possessed numerous bibles, and a plethora of tracts, Watchtowers, and Awakes, which she eagerly handed out as she passionately spread The Word.

She was sharp as a tack, and sly as a fox. She kept you on your toes. Fearless, funny, bright, and engaging. She easily made friends.

Life with Marcia has been like an endless roller coaster ride at the fair: screams of delight, flashing lights, a brilliant sun, mixed in with a few truly frightening moments. She is gone too soon and will be dearly missed.

Marcia was preceded in death by parents, Gladys and Wilbert Grigsby; big sister, Delores Grigsby; grandson, Curtis Johnson; and beloved (ex) husband, Big George Jackson. She is survived by children, Roxanne (Johnny) McKinney, Curtis Harper, Eric Harper, George (Anna) Jackson Jr., Andrea Jackson, and Marcus Jackson; grandchildren, Mercedes Harper, Kahala Johnson, Quentin Harper, Nancy Johnson, Alonzo McKinney, Xavier McKinney, Julian Jackson, Crispin Jackson, Marcellus Jackson, Owen Jackson, and Kai Jackson; as well as many great-grandchildren.
