

Marjorie (Hey) Mjos

December 27, 2004

Mjos Marjorie "Midge" (Hey) Mjos died December 22, 2004 at the age of 80. She leaves behind a colorful, optimistic, talented, and loving assortment of relatives and friends that alone or in various groups were often the cause of a plethora of smiles and a relative dearth of frowns, which, of course, suggests that she lived a very fortunate and satisfying life. True enough! A greatly truncated list of these people includes: sons, Jonathan and Todd; daughter, Betsey; brothers, Fredrick and Eugene; grandchildren, Gretchen, Melanie, Ingrid, Jamison, Kirstin, and Coleman. Marjorie was preceded in death by her father, Fred W. Hey; mother, Gisella Hey; sister, Elaine Johnson, and husband of more than fifty years, Owen "Bud" Mjos. "Midge," as Marjorie referred to herself, was an intelligent, generous, creative, and loving person. To a degree that made so many feel very grateful to know her, she exemplified some of the best qualities that belong to all of you who are reading these words. She will not be forgotten. Funeral service Tuesday at 2 pm at Washburn- McReavy Swanson Chapel, 1600 Lowry Ave. No., Mpls. Visitation Monday from 5-8 pm and one hour prior to service. Interment to Crystal Lake Cemetery. Memorials to Open Arms or Vesterheim Norwegian-American Museum.
