“Martin was the finest man I ever knew. I enjoyed going to lunch with him many times in recent years. Since Martin had limited eyesight, typically I would pick him up and he would tell me where to turn. In fact one time he wanted to go bowling so we did. I think he beat me that day! I love you Martin and will never forget you. A big day in my life was when you joined Grazzini's firm so that I did have to deal with Big Albert so much. Speak about a life well lived.”
