“ Well shit, my old man really wanted to live to be a hundred yrs old. I always thought he would. He is a private man that quietly Loves Jesus and mankind no matter where we came from. Always he supported humanity and growth with improvement in oneself. He promoted these along with spiritual understanding through study and experience. Much more substance to my old man than most folks realized,he is severely missed by myself as well as his family and friends and all the folks that were lucky enough to have experienced Maynard Sanders as an instructor; be it welding, life, living, spiritually, personal conduct and treating other folks w/respect and understanding. Folks say the apple doesn't fall too far from the tree Dad, I can only hope for our family that this is true. You are loved by many folks especially by me. I love you Dad, I thank God often for you being in my life, but you already know that. I'll catch up with you later, let's hope we have an occupation in the next round that isn't so dang rough on us. Carry on Dad. Your Son, Kevin Lee Sanders
