“ Living just a little over one block away from Myrtle as we grew up, it was always a pleasure to get together. In Glenwood, our version of the "gang" included all the females, and occasionally a few males, as we all lived within walking range of one another. The simple, but delightful memories of the activities we all chimed in on, whether it was a scavenger hunt, putting on a carnival, setting up a house-cleaning party to help out a friend, cooking a meal on a grill, playing in the Dick's garage which was set up for us to play in...we always had great fun, and seemed never to get in trouble! Myrtle was always ready for a laugh and a pleasant visit. Over the years, it has been a joy to visit her on her birthdays or other special occasions. God bless, Myrtle!
You have been a dear friend!

“ I'm so thankful I had the chance to meet Chris's great aunt Myrtle and introduce her to our daughter, Eloise. Myrtle was such a kind woman and it was immediately evident how much she loved her family. We all miss her here but take comfort she's in her heavenly home.

“ I will always cherish the memories I made with my great aunt Myrtle....the visits to Magic Kingdom and Cypress Gardens, her teaching me how to play UNO, handing out candy on Halloween with her in a little witch's hat, and many more. She was the kindest person I ever met and full of faith. I was so blessed to have her in my life and will miss her deeply. I know that God has welcomed home one of his very best daughters and that Myrtle is at peace with him and those that have gone before her.

We love you Myrtle

“ Myrtle was in the class one year after mine all through the grades and high school, and her home growing up was not far from mine. I feel we had a special understanding of each other, each knowing that the other could be depended upon through every kind of circumstance. I tremendously admired her family, but especially Myrtle herself for her totally unflappable response to life. What an inspiration she has been! - Jim Gloege

“ Myrtle overcame many challenges in the 80 years that she lived and never complained about her limitations. She had a very strong faith, which she lived by and if you bothered to take the TIME to get to know Myrtle you found she was not only very bright, had a wonderful sense of humor, a very forgiving heart, was a total joy to be around and a very loyal friend. She was sharp as a tack when it came to spelling and math.. When we were in 8th grade I was really struggling with learning various aspects of math and Myrtle went home and wrote up on separate pieces of paper the ENTIRE multiplication tablet and drilled me on it every night after school until I 'got it'. I think of her every time I add up a column of figures and will miss and love her every day for the rest of my life. Myrtle's entire family, from her parents to her wonderful nieces and nephews are the kindest, most loving, thoughtful and generous bunch of people that you could ever hope to meet.. We are ALL better human beings, having even blessed by having Myrtle in our presence and I feel extremely fortunate to have been just a small part of this extraordinary family.

And to my dear friend Myrtle I want to say: 'Your one wish has been granted, you wanted to 'just go home' and now your life is complete. And we know you were welcomed home by thunderous crowds of angels and all those in your family that went before you. Rest in peace which you so richly deserve.'

When I was growing up in Glenwod we lived across the street from the Nelson family for several years. I didn't know Myrtle well, I know she had a caring heart and a beautiful outlook on life, she cared so much about her lovely family. She will be missed. RIP, my dear Myrtle. I have will forever cherish the sweet memories I have of you! Love, Doug Bredeson
