“ Paulie ... doesn't seem like 6 years could have passed already -- still think about you all the time. Don't know if you were looking out for me in Canada or playing a practical joke on me ... but either way I hope it provided a laugh. It did for me. We skipped the spaghetti this time. Lets call it even.

“ Six years has gone by. Hard to believe. Sometimes it seems like yesterday and sometimes it seems like a long time ago. A lot has changed. Sometimes I wonder how our lives would be different had this tragedy not have happened. We miss you a lot as we start another year without you. There have been many times when we have said Paul and now Dave, would have loved to be here right now, as I'm sure there are many times when Lisa could use your input and guidance. Missing you.

We thought of you with love today
But that is nothing new.
We thought about you yesterday
And days before that too.
We think of you in silence
We often speak your name.

“ Just this side of heaven is a place called Rainbow Bridge. When an animal dies that has been especially close to someone here, that pet goes to Rainbow Bridge. There are meadows and hills for all of our special friends so they can run and play together. There is plenty of food, water and sunshine, and our friends are warm and comfortable. All the animals who had been ill and old are restored to health and vigor; those who were hurt or maimed are made whole and strong again, just as we remember them in our dreams of days and times gone by. The animals are happy and content, except for one small thing; they each miss someone very special to them, who had to be left behind. They all run and play together, but the day comes when one suddenly stops and looks into the distance. His bright eyes are intent; His eager body quivers. Suddenly he begins to run from the group, flying over the green grass, his legs carrying him faster and faster. You have been spotted, and when you and your special friend finally meet, you cling together in joyous reunion, never to be parted again. The happy kisses rain upon your face; your hands again caress the beloved head, and you look once more into the trusting eyes of your pet, so long gone from your life but never absent from your heart. Then you cross Rainbow Bridge together.... Author unknown... Love ya Buddy,

I know you come here alot as I do. I want you to know that as much as I miss Paul very much and I can only imagine how much you miss him. He was such a good friend to us both. He will never be replaced. I'm really proud and glad that we have survived yet another major hurdle in our lives having lost two very important parts of us. I miss Paul very much. We never would have imagined anything like this would have happened to our little group. How wrong were we? How fragile are we? I love you for being so strong and want you to know that there are many times when I am just as weak. Like right now. I love you. . . . I miss you Paul. It's not right. But what is?

“ We just got back from the lake yesterday. As always it was fun to spend time up there with everyone and the Troje's. Dave, Paul and Lisa and the kids were up there for part of the week with us. But, it was also tough. It was bad enough that you were missing from our picture, but it was also in the same week you left us a year ago. Things were different up there. I think we all felt the pain and loss especially hard. An eagle was soaring above us on Friday, then he came down over the lake and flew above us. I knew you were there with us and always will be in some way, shape or form. Lisa, know that we are always there for you and the kids. Whatever path you take we will always be there. We love you all.

In the past year I have realized something.....I have always had a guardian angel...his name was Paul.

Growing up, he was my big brother watching over me, protecting me, and showing me what not to do...

“ Lisa & Paul,

EVER SO GENTLY...

He has written his name in the sand. As he gently walks away he leaves no footprints behind.

He has imprinted his name in our hearts where he will reside forever, never to be forgotten.

As she puts pen to paper she mourns him, and misses his every movement.

There is not a moment in any day that she does not think of him.

She misses his smile, his walk, his eyes.

She misses his smell that even now sometimes surrounds her.

She longs for his touch, ever so gently.

God has chosen for each of us to learn from our triumphs, as well as our shortcomings. He has chosen for each of us to teach those around us what we have learned in life, and to love is to give of ourselves without boundaries or hesitation.

She will forever cherish what great pleasure she had been given, by loving him. She silently weeps, as you see she has lost the "love of her life."

She quietly whispers in name with such great sadness.

Sadness that can only be felt by her, a pain ever so deep.

A sadness that cannot be explained, nor hushed away.

He is the first thing she thinks of each morning and the last thing each night as she slowly drifts off to sleep.

She knows that he is safe and in a place of great splendor, now and forever.

He watches over those of us who loved him.

His legacy are his children. He will always guide them without them knowing and he will forever keep them safe.

His visions and his life will live on in the lives of those who loved him. Ever So Gently...

His name, Paul Gregory Marquis

“ Paul,

So much has changed over the past 7 months, and yet your family and friends still think about you each and every day, and miss you desperately. Some days are better than others, and some are handling your being gone better than others. It's just sometimes hard to understand the "whys" and what are we all suppose to learn from this? It is so sad and my heart breaks every time I watch your friends still saddened beyond belief that you are gone. We all miss you Paul and we know that we will move forward, sometimes though, just when we think we are, we take two steps backwards. We love you and we miss you, and I know I speak for Paul, Mark, Dave, Kathy, Patty, and myself. The guys really miss you, Paul. Watch over them and keep them safe, help them through this. I know that time heals, but sometimes we meet someone who leaves their impression forever imprinted in our hearts, in our minds and in our souls. You were that to so many people, Paul. Sometimes we wear our feelings on our sleeves, and others hide it because it's just too much to bear. Always know that you have touched the lives of so many, and we will all be forever thankful that we had the pleasure of knowing you, and having you in our lives. Know that we love you, and no matter what, we'll see you again.

“ This is what Paulie is telling us everyday! When tomorrow starts without me, & I'm not there to see Your eyes full of tears, showing your love for me I wish you wouldn't cry so much, the way you did that day Thinking of the many things we didn't get to say I know how much you love me, as much as I love you And each time you think of me, I'm thinking of you too So when tomorrow starts without me, please try to understand An angel came & called my name, & took me by my hand It was time for me to take my place, in heaven far above Leaving everyone behind, especially the ones I love As I turned & walked away, a tear fell from my eye Remembering the life I lived & why I had to die I do not want to go, with having so much to do And it seemed almost impossible, that I was leaving you So when tomorrow starts without me, don't think that we're apart For every time you think of me, just look within your heart.
Paulie we miss and love you very much!

“Paulie, Ice fishing season is at hand. That was one of the things Mark was really looking forward to when we moved out here. You guys spent so much time on the ice at the lakes up here. Now, it's kind of bittersweet for him. He told me he didn't even want to go cuz every corner he would look would be missing you. He's finally went. Last night we cleaned fish for the first time in our garage. I was out there with the guys helping. I'm pretty good at it, you know. I used to always razz you about leaving too much meat on the fish. It was weird without you here. I can see how Mark felt about fishing. There is another emptiness. Albeit hard for him, it's good. I still think I'm going to see you walking in the garage with that all too familiar, "how are ya".

We all miss you so much. Zach always says, "mommy, do you know why I'm crying" I say, "why", knowing full well why. He says, "cuz Paulie die-did and we're never going to see him again." Then we're both sad. I don't know when the sadness will end. Maybe never. I know we will never stop thinking about you and missing you.

“ My friend,

Not a moment yet goes by that I don't think about you. I am struggling trying to appreciate the gift of friendship I was given and instead keep dwelling in the sadness and anger of having it taken away from me. I can see the gift – but I cannot seem to grasp it.

Life will eventually move on. It has too. But many of the things that provided such pleasure in the past now have our friendship painfully written all over them. It's hard for me to find focus and strength. You have many good friends -- I am but one.

I miss you and have faith that we will meet again one day.

Waiting for mom and dad to tell us it was ok to come down stairs and see what Santa had brought us. Or the times when they left us our filled stockings in our room so we would play a little bit before waking them up so early to head downstairs. “ The left foot has been a little stuck lately. Seems that I've had so many more reminders of you - the van needs to be washed and every time I touch it I am reminded of you - you'd be telling me to get it washed cuz if you touch the dirt it can scratch the finish. When I look at Benjamin wearing his dad's shirts. Going without you to Maddie's band concert last nite. When Maddie has an attitude issue - which lately seems like its ALL the time. And Lauren - she is so much like me. When she's picking on her brother and I want to scream I think about you. Watching Lauren dress up for Immigration Day at school today. She is so excited about me helping and having lunch with her today. When the kids make a comment about something their dad used to do or didnt like and we crack up laughing. Not one day goes by that we dont miss you. And while you are not here physically, you are in everything we do, say, and you are in our hearts. I just wanted you to know that. I miss you so much. I do know and truly believe that God and you have a plan for me and when that left foot gets stuck I try and remember that - I can do all things through Christ who strenthens me. We are all ok. We will all need your help to get us thru this very difficult holiday. Give us the power to laugh instead of cry, to smile instead of frowning and to be grateful for each day for its truly a gift. There is not a day or a moment that you are not on the minds of those who knew and loved you. We, your family and your friends miss you desperately each and every day. “ Paul,

You are like a sturdy oak tree. Your roots planted firmly in the ground, and your branches spread wide to protect all those you loved.

Now you're like an eagle soaring high, your wings spread wide, still protecting.

Paul, you will never be gone from us, but will always live on in your children. There will always be a part of you living on in each of them. With every breath they take, the smile that appears across their face, the laughter when they are happy and each tear that falls when they are hurt or sad. And the life and love that you and Lisa shared will remain deep in her heart forever.

Your father, mother, brothers, sisters, extended family, all your friends and everyone you touched the hearts of will have special and fond memories of you. Just as I do. Some will laugh over them, some will cry over them, but all will thank you for them.

Paul, dying we never say "Good-bye", instead we say, "I'll see you again."

I love you Paul. And remember, you better be good or Grandma's going to yell at you.

“ I'd like to express my sympathy to the Marquis family. Paul was a good grade school and high school friend. I remember being scolded by Mr. Hire in our 9th grade summer school "Typing" class because he and I always talked too much and also, having him ask his sister, Renee, if I could borrow her green formal for the homecoming court. Paul was someone every could talk to and everyone's best friend. This world has truly lost a kind and generous friend.

“ Paul,

Our two girls are the common thread that have bound us together, but on Friday, Aug 27, you etched a permanent place in our hearts. Words are so inadequate to express our feelings for what you did to protect Callie that day, but know that you will forever be a part of her life - and a part of ours. Thank you.

“ Dear Lisa and Family;

Sorry to hear of your loss of Paul. We just heard on Saturday afternoon, otherwise we would have been there on Friday. It's hard to believe he is gone, We just saw Paul, Madeline, and Benjamin at the Anoka County Fair motorcycle races a few weeks ago. I will always remember the good times we shared coaching the softball team.

You will be kept in our thoughts and prayers.

Our condolences,

“ Paul,

I've waited until now to write this, as I find it impossible to limit my thoughts about you to one small paragraph. From the first day I met you, you made Caitlin and I feel like a part of your family. But it was more than that - you became a true friend. A guy that I, and others, looked up to as a model husband and father. Cynthia and I want to thank you again for being in our wedding - you made our day extra special. As you know, Cynthia is devastated. You were always there for her, and now she feels empty and lost. She loves you with her whole heart, Paul. I'll always be there as her husband and friend, but no one will fill the place you hold in her heart. Cynthia misses you, Caitlin misses you, and I miss you. If Cynthia and I are ever fortunate enough to have children together, those children will know their "Uncle Paul" through the wonderful memories that you have given us. You will always be in our thoughts and prayers...

“ Paul, The things I remember most when we started working together at FedEx was your upbeat, positive manner, smile, gentleness, and love for laughing. You always enjoyed a good joke and I will miss exchanging them with you on the internet. I will also miss our occasional lunches. I remember when you first introduced me to Lisa and you were just a couple of lovestruck kids. I know how proud you are of your entire family and they will miss you greatly as well. Thanks for finding a good home for my dog with the Urich's. I can tell you were well liked by reading these letters from a number of people. I hope you know I always considered you a good friend. I know you are in a place where you can hunt, fish, and golf all you want, but I will pray for your family through their grief and be there if they need me.

Your friend, Mike

P.S. If at all possible, buddy, send me an email as to how good the golfing is in heaven.
